

Third-person view increases visible policy separation

